FACTS!

"AND DON'T YOU FORGET IT."

BLAINE IS DYING.

Concealment of His Serious
Illness No Longer Possible.

The End of a Remarkable Career Believed To Be Approaching.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Two of the most distinguished men in the country are slowly dying in Washington to-night, and it is not probable that they will live to see the first day of the new year. One is James G. Blaine and the other Justice Lamar. Inquiry at Mr. Blaine's residence this evening elicits simply the response that "Mr. Blaine's condition is about the same." From another source it is learned that his condition is less favorable than it was this morning. Although there is no danger, apparently, of an immediate fatal termination of his illness, there is no doubt that Mr. Blaine is a very sick man, and his present condition excites the gravest fears. It is, in fact, so serious that there is said to be only a possibility of his recovering sufficiently to admit of his removal to a milder climate.

A person qualified to speak by reason of relationship with the family says: "It is only within the past four days that Mr. Blaine's family have fully realized that the sands of his life are rapidly running out. At no period of his declining health for some time past has Mr. Blaine failed to appreciate that he was stricken with disease that must sooner or later terminate fatally, but with a splendid courage, characteristic of the man, he has carefully guarded the secret from his family and performed his public and private duties. Those organs being the most delicate, he has become congested and he takes cold. Mr. Blaine is at present suffering from a cold contracted while on a few days ago. His lungs are inflamed and he is unable to breathe. That which has been his family and friends most is that upon the occurrence of every relapse, such as the one from which he is now suffering, his vital powers show less and less recuperative energy. As a matter of fact, Mr. Blaine has not felt inclined to discuss the subject of death. Now he speaks upon that subject freely, is preparing for the end and is becoming reconciled to the common lot of man. A loving father, the death of three children within a comparatively brief period, has sorely stricken him, and his grief has hastened the progress of the malady with which he is afflicted."

HIS MONEY REFUNDED.

A Princeton Saloon-Keeper
Finds a Way to Do Business
Without a Business.

Princeton, Ky., Dec. 16.—A case was decided in the Lyon Circuit Court yesterday that is so unusual in its character that it will likely bring about a large amount of litigation in this section of Kentucky. J. R. Griffith, a saloon-keeper, of Eddyville, made application several months ago for a renewal of his license to retail intoxicating liquors. The County Judge refused on the ground that complaint had been made of Griffith's running a disorderly house. Griffith got up a petition and lodged this, with the license money, with the County Clerk and continued his business. He was indicted for selling whisky without license and heavily fined. He took an appeal to the Appellate Court. The decision was reversed and the case sent back to the Circuit Court. Circuit Judge Grace, in his decision yesterday, ordered the money returned to Griffith and the indictments dismissed.

The Henderson Gleaner is already discussing the political probabilities of 1895 and starts with this: "It begins to look like the next Kentucky gubernatorial race is shaping itself now. The following are the candidates already in the field: P. Watt Hardin, Cassius M. Clay, Jr., John B. Castleman, Wm. Stone.

TO TOUCH THE BUTTON.

M. Cleveland Will Be Asked to Make a Speech and Start the

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Grover Cleveland will be asked to make a speech on May 1, 1893, at the Exposition. At the close of the speech, if he accepts the invitation, Mr. Cleveland will touch an electric button, starting the 14,000 horse power plant in Machinery Hall which is to run all the whirling wheels of the fair.

This was decided by the Committee on Ceremonies to-day. The other exercises will consist of the reading of a poem by Dr. Olive Wendel Holmes and a prayer. It is intended to have the ceremonies of the briefest character. The Executive Committee of the World's Fair expressed a desire to-day to do away with all ceremonies at the May opening but the plan outlined by the Ceremonies Committee will probably be followed.

SAVED BY PRAYER.

Evangelist Moody Believes God
Stilled The Waves in Answer to Prayer.

Recently while in mid-ocean one of the great ocean steamers was overtaken by a storm, her machinery was disabled, and water found its way into the vessel. There appeared to be no hope for the vessel and the seven hundred people aboard. The great evangelist Moody was aboard he affirms that nothing short of the direct interposition of Providence in answer to prayers saved the lives of the whole ship's company. "Did you ever see seven hundred men and women pray?" said he this afternoon. "There never was a more earnest prayer to God than that of those seven hundred souls on that helpless, almost sinking ship in mid-ocean last Sunday evening when we met in the saloon to implore God's help, and God answered us, as we knew he would. He sent us a rescuing ship, and He calmed the sea, so that for a week we were as smooth as it is in this harbor, through there was

I WILL SELL YOU GOODS AT THE PEOPLE'S STORE AT COST

Until JANUARY 1st, and many things I will sell under cost. Come in at once or you will have to pay more for them. Have a good line of Dress Goods, Shoes, Dry Goods, and a Few Suits of Ready Made Clothing.

I will also sell you from my Large and Newly Selected Stock of Goods on the corner at Gray's old stand, more goods and better goods for the money than any house in town. Some merchants may tell you that they buy their goods for less money than we do, and claim that they can sell you cheap. But don't let this be in your way, for we will meet any price our competitors make you, and many times will save you 10 per cent. See us before buying your Tobacco Cotton. We have just received a large stock of.

J. H. MORSE.

THE NEW COURT.

Judge Bennett Will Preside
Over the Reorganization Court

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 17.—The adjournment of the Court of Appeals this morning carries with it more significance than ordinary adjournment of this highest State tribunal for many reasons. The court has lately been brought into prominence more than ordinary by the World's Fair decision, and just ahead lie the volumes of work that will be brought before it in the adjustment of the laws to the new constitution. Every law in the statute book that has not yet been will have to be rephrased by the Legislature in conformity to the new constitution and this will give rise to a great deal of litigation. The court, as it were, begins a new era in its history.

At the reorganization Chief Justice Holt, who has served his term, eight years, from the First Appellate district, will retire, and will be succeeded by Judge Jim Hazlerigg, of Montgomery county, and Judge Bennett, being the next whose term will expire, will be the Chief Justice for the succeeding two years.

Current Political Matters.

Pittsburg Gazette: The proposition to place a head tax of $100 on each lumigrant, coming into the country seems to grow in popular favor. The strain put upon it by the addition every decade of five million of the lowest types of European civilization, and the sooner a halt is called the better.

New York Tribune: The Navy Department is confronted with a new dilemma. There are not enough available men to equip the six new vessels to be placed in commission some time before the naval review next spring. Thirteen hundred men are required for this purpose, and of that number only about 500 have been secured.

New York World: A graded income tax is the coming tax if the expenditures of the government are to continue anywhere near the present mark. Toledo Bee: No one is advocating the reduction of pensions. The objection is to granting pensions to those who are not entitled to them, and who have no representation. Of course the Democratic party has no intention of repealing pensions laws, and nothing has been said that would lead to such an impression, except the ranting of Republican speakers during the campaign.

New York Advertiser: When the courts have stripped the Interstate Commerce law of all its frills there will be nothing left but the salaries of the Commissioners. Still, that is something.

Globe Democrat: A surplus of $2,000,000 is figured out by the Secretary of the Treasury as likely to be on hand at the end of the present fiscal year, on June 30 next. This is small, but it is a good deal better than a deficit.

SOUVENIR COINS.

Arrival of the Treasury Train at
New York With the First Shipment.

New York, Dec. 16.—The Treasury train, which left Philadelphia this morning having on board the first 60,000 of the Columbian souvenir half-dollars, shipped from the United States Mint in that city, arrived at the Pennsylvania depot at noon, in Jersey City.

Col. Elliot F. Shepard received 10,000 of the coins, and the remainder were turned over to the United States Express Company to be sent to the Sub-Treasury at Chicago.

Representative Stone has introduced a bill for the relief of Mrs. S. A. Trimble, widow of John P. Hall, late Colonel of the Fifty-sixth regiment of Illinois Infantry Volunteers; also a bill for the relief of Mrs. Artilla Hoppers, widow of George Biedwell, late a private in the Florida war. They were referred to the Committee on Pensions.

At Bowling Green a burley negro attempted to outrage a young lady, failing he cut her throat and fled. She will recover, and he will be lynched as soon as caught.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

The swearing off period is approaching.

The Legislature is resting from its arduous labors.

Congress has adjourned until after the holidays.

Confidence men robbed a Bourbon county farmer of $2,000.

Thursday evening a banquet was given Vice-President elect Stevenson at Anniston, Ala.

The Kentucky distillers have decided to list whisky for taxation at 10 per barrel.

We continue to hope that the States Senate, like the Kentucky country, will be Democratic.

An eastern paper publishes the story that Carlisle has been offered the Treasury portfolio and he declined to accept it.

If the Legislature fails to make an appropriation for a Kentucky exhibit at the World's Fair, and it will do its duty some more.

Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, died at Hot Springs Thursday. His remains were brought to Lexington for burial. He was born a Kentuckian.

Well, if Carlisle goes into the Cabinet, and Stone casts the Senatorial plum, then John Hendrick will go to Congress, or we will know the reason why.

Vice-President elect Stevenson is making a little bank-shaking tour in the South. He is as near to the heart of the people in his sphere as Grover Cleveland is in his more honored office.

The International Money Conference at Brussels, adjourned Saturday. It will reconvene May 13, should the various governments so agree. There appears to be little hope of any good being accomplished.

It is estimated that the increase in the price of distilled spirits from $1.00 per gallon will add $1.00 to the revenue of the Government. The increase in the price of whisky from $1.00 per gallon will add $1.00 to the revenue of the Government. The increase in the price of whisky from $1.00 per gallon will add $1.00 to the revenue of the Government.

by counties. The vote of Bidwell, the Prohibition candidate for President, shows very plainly that the temperance people do not believe in mixing their good, moral cause with their practical business politics. They have the good sense to occupy the position that in business affairs, and what is politics but business—we must mingle and think as business men, irrespective of the matter as to who takes a drink and who doesn't. Take the counties of the First district for instance. Mayfield the capital of Graves, is a strong prohibition town, no saloons are tolerated, yet in the big county of Graves, Bidwell got only fifty-six votes. Caldwell county has been prohibition "dyed in the wool," a majority of her people are unquestionably opposed to the whisky traffic, yet of the 2200 votes cast Bidwell has only fifty eight for his share.

Marion the county seat of Crittenden, is a prohibition town, and the precinct alone has over 800 votes, yet in the entire county, only forty-nine saw fit to vote for Bidwell. The other counties of the district, and the State as for that, show about the same conditions. The people will not mix the things of Caesar with the things of God. We owe a duty to each, and each debt should be paid; but neither receipts for the other; the two are not united nor can they be formed into a co-partnership without doing an injustice to either the one or the other.

A great effort is being made to have the World's Fair open on Sunday. A Chicago court will be asked to grant an injunction restraining the directors from closing the gates on Sunday, on the grounds that the park is public property that can not be closed. The question appears to shape itself about this way: Shall we remain true to the faith which guided and cherished those who fought for our independence, or shall we give way to the spirit of the age which says we are wiser than they?

With the use of liquor prohibited on election days, and a fair prospect of an increase in the price of a drink because of an increase of taxes on whisky, it appears that the dealers have other enemies besides our prohibition friends.

Congressman Camth has introduced a bill which provides that Federal office holders shall not draw pensions while they are drawing salaries from the Government. The bill has been favorably received.

Q. Mills notifies his constituents, that he will take no hand in helping them get offices. If Loger's constituents had treated him the same way, there would be no necessity for his announcement.

New York World: By the last census the total wealth of the United States is $62,610,000,000 and the total capital invested in manufacturing $2,900,735,894. or but 5 per cent of the whole. After thirty years of legislating for the 5 it is time to give the 95 a chance.

Lyon County and Eddyville.

The Tale of Two Cities gives some historical information concerning Eddyville and Lyon county. We clip the following from its columns: Lyon is the smallest on the tier of counties of Western Kentucky bordering on, and contiguous to, the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers; but it is rich in its resources of fertile soil, varied timber productions and mineral deposits; and offers inducements to those who have money to invest such as in some respects are not equalled by any of her sister counties.

The county was erected in 1854, by act of the Legislature, from a portion of Caldwell county, and was named in honor of Col. Crittenden Lyon, one of the earliest settlers of the territory, and the grandfather of our fellow townsman, Gen. H. B. Lyon.

Its area is about one hundred and thirty thousand acres, somewhat more than half of which consists of improved and tillable lands; and the remainder of virgin forest and coal-lands. The population of the county is now about eight thousand, and its people are above the average in intelligence and progressive spirit. Eddyville, the county seat of Lyon county, takes its name from its location nearly midway between two of the largest eddies (or whirlpools) in the Cumberland river, known as "Big Eddy" and "Little Eddy."

The town was first located in 1799, by Col. Mathew Lyon, then a citizen of Vermont, and a representative in Congress from that state; who brought out from the Green Mountain State a colony of hardy pioneers, and settled them here on the classic banks of the blue Swannee, to found a town and to make a history. After making a plot for a town, in October of that year, on the 2nd day of the month, a public meeting was called and the town organized by the election of a board of trustees, who accepted the plot and located the public building. In those early days of Kentucky's history, as in these, good drinking water was one of the most important considerations in the location of a plantation or settlement and a large springs here, being not more than two hundred yards apart, and pouring into the Cumberland river their large streams of pure and rapid water, first attracted the attention of Col. Lyon and his friends, and caused them to pitch their camp here, among the forest crowns and ancient hills that stood sentinel around them. Col. Lyon soon returned to Vermont and to his seat in Congress, to take conspicuous part in the stirring events that agitated the politics of the then youthful republic.

The town he had thus founded grew apace, and was soon made the county seat of Caldwell county, then comprising all that territory now known as Lyon county. And soon after his imprisonment and heavy fine under the "alien and sedition laws" and early subsequent release, Col. Lyon returned to Eddyville to take up his permanent residence here, where he immediately established several thriving manufacturing industries, such as a ship yard, a nail factory and button factory, all of which thrived and flourished in their day. The first permanent residence built in the town was the brick dwelling house built for Col. Lyon, and now occupied by Mr. George E. Crumbaugh and it was in this same mansion that Aaron Burr and his plot of treason, by which, to please his recently defeated presidential aspirations, he hoped to win an extensive Southern empire with himself as absolute head. Here, also, in later years, as to an ancient city of refuge, fled another somewhat noted criminal, Edward C. Hudson, better known to the world as "Ned Buntlin," the famous writer of more blood-and-thunder novels than any other American before or since his time.

ANON.

Obituary.

In memory of little John Tilford Brown, son of Willie and Mollie Brown. He was born on Oct. 25, 1889, and was called home to Jesus Nov. 30, 1892. He was three years, one month and six days old. He was sick but a few days and God called him home. He was loved by all who knew him. He was a good child in every way; he often talked about heaven and told his mama he was going to the Goodman. He was pure for this earth and Jesus taken him to be an angel in heaven. He has gone where death nor pain can enter. He is an angel in heaven. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. Little Tilford has gone to be a shining angel in heaven. Weep not, you will soon be with him again where parting never comes. His remains were laid to rest at Tyners Chapel to await the resurrection morn.

The Tale of Two Cities gives some historical information concerning Eddyville and Lyon county. We clip the following from its columns: Lyon is the smallest on the tier of counties of Western Kentucky bordering on, and contiguous to, the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers; but it is rich in its resources of fertile soil, varied timber productions and mineral deposits; and offers inducements to those who have money to invest such as in some respects are not equalled by any of her sister counties.

The county was erected in 1854, by act of the Legislature, from a portion of Caldwell county, and was named in honor of Col. Crittenden Lyon, one of the earliest settlers of the territory, and the grandfather of our fellow townsman, Gen. H. B. Lyon.

Its area is about one hundred and twenty thousand acres, somewhat more than half of which consists of improved and tillable lands; and the remainder of virgin forest and coal lands. The population of the county is now about eight thousand, and its people are above the average in intelligence and progressive spirit.

Eddyville, the county seat of Lyon county, takes its name from its location nearly midway between two of the largest eddies (or whirlpools) in the Cumberland river, known as "Big Eddy" and "Little Eddy."

The town was first located in 1799, by Col. Mathew Lyon, then a citizen of Vermont, and a representative in Congress from that state; who brought out from the Green Mountain State a colony of hardy pioneers, and settled them here on the classic banks of the blue Suwanee, to found a town and to make a history. After making a plot for a town, in October of that year, on the 2nd day of the month, a public meeting was called and the town organized by the election of a board of trustees, who accepted the plot and located the public building. In those early days of Kentucky's history, as in these, good drinking water was one of the most important considerations in the location of the settlement and the large springs here, being not more than two hundred yards apart, and pouring into the Cumberland river their large streams of pure and cold water, first attracted the attention of Col. Lyon and his friends, and caused them to pitch their camp here, among the forest crowns and ancient hills that stood sentinel around them. Col. Lyon soon returned to Vermont and to his seat in Congress, to take conspicuous part in the stirring events that marked the politics of the then youthful republic. The town he had thus founded grew apace, and was soon made the county seat of Caldwell county, then comprising all that territory now known as Lyon county. And soon after his imprisonment and heavy fine under the "alien and seditious laws" and early subsequent release, Col. Lyon returned to Eddyville to take up his permanent residence here, where he immediately established several thriving manufacturing industries, such as a ship yard, a nail factory and button factory, all of which thrived and flourished in their day. The first permanent residence built in the town was the brick dwelling house built for Col. Lyon, and now occupied by Mr. George E. Crumbaugh and it was in this same mansion that Aaron Burr and his party domiciled in the town of 1804, after his dastardly murder of the gitted Hamilton, while he unfolded to Col. Lyon his gaudy plot of treason, by which, he hoped, he recently defeated his personal aspirations, he hoped to gain an extensive Southern empire, with himself as absolute head. Here, also, in later years, as to an ancient city of refuge, fled another somewhat noted criminal, Edward C. Udson, better known to the world as "Ned Buntline," the famous writer of blood-and-thunder novels than any other American before or since his time.

BLACKFORD.

Farmers are delivering a great deal of tobacco.

Dr. Asher has moved into his new and pretty residence.

Mr. Forbes, of Hopkinsville, will shortly build a big saw mill here.

J. A. Cliff has a good saw and grist mill and is doing a fine business.

A planing and matching machine is expected here soon. Lots of timber is expected.

Rev. Chas. Gough's wife has lost her mind; attempted to drown herself in Tradewater at the Hall Moon Lick. She was rescued by the section hands on the O. V.

W. A. Brightman says Milt Babb need accuse nobody of raising nubbins, for he is in that row of stumps himself. Brightman has corn that goes over 1000 grains; one ear had 1058; it is the early Mastodon variety.

LOLA.

George Paris and Mr. Glasgow were in our village soliciting orders for Willmore's Analytical Bible.

Wanted to let a contract for 400 cord of good wood. For terms and prices apply to Lola Mill.

The Lola mills advertise that they will do no work during the holidays.

The iron has been hauled from Garrettsville for the bridge across Deer Creek near this place.

Hood Kennedy made a flying trip to Illinois last week.

News is scarce this week so we will make a bow and bid you adieu until after the holidays.

Obituary.

In memory of little John Tilford Brown, son of Willie and Mollie Brown. He was born on Oct. 25, 1889, and was called home to Jesus Nov. 30, 1892. He was three years, one month and six days old. He was sick but a few days and God called him home. He was loved by all who knew him. He was a good child in every way; he often talked about heaven and told his mama he was going to the Goodland. He was pure for this earth and Jesus taken him to be an angel in heaven. He has gone where death nor pain can enter. He is an angel in heaven. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. Little Tilford has gone to be a shining angel in heaven. Weep not, you will soon be with him again where parting never comes. His remains were laid to rest at Tyners Chapel to await the resurrection morn.

His Friend,

M. E. B.

All parties owing the firm of A. Dewey & Co., will please come forward between now and the first of January and pay their account, all parties owing for 60 days. To Taxpayers.

The election is over, and the result, to which I cheerfully bow, will compel me to wind up my business at once. I must settle up with the State, and must do so at once. There can be no delay. Next week my two deputies will begin the collection of the unpaid taxes in earnest, and will keep at it until complete. I must have the money without delay, I mean by this that if the money is not forth-coming, I shall levy without further ado. This is not brag or bluster, but I must protect myself and my securities, and I will do so without delay. Get your money ready, I am coming.
